Julie, I don't think you and I meeting will solve Dani's concerns. She thinks the sample should be called positive, and to me and Peter it was questionable. I'm not going to argue with Daniela. We can all look at the data and reconsider the findings and the criteria for calling something positive. I've always left it up to the chemist(s) who has to testify to make a decision when the findings are questionable. CBS

Julie, let's meet at 2pm Friday. I'll have Peter and Dani get all their data for that sample and we can discuss. CBS
